'Soils Limited used Woods Surveys to undertake a survey of test hole locations on a large site in Hertfordshire on a very tight time schedule. The works were undertaken within the time scale and to a very professional standard. Subsequent work on the site required regular precise levelling of a trial foundation, in order to validate the actual immediate and longer term settlement against the calculated settlement of the loaded foundation. This involved Chris working in a tight area of a busy working site at regular time intervals over a set period of time. Chris Woods assisted in setting up the test and subsequently undertook the precise levelling at regular pre-set time intervals over a set period of time, again in a very professional way. Soils Limited have no hesitation in recommending the work undertaken by Woods Surveys.'
