

Values Course

13th October 2016, Beyond Limits

Most people came to our 'Values Course' to gain a better understanding of Beyond Limits' Values and to see their work from a different perspective

We asked our attendees how they would rate our course presenters on their delivery style

88% said Excellent

12% said Very Good or Good

We asked our attendees how they would rate our course presenters on the course material they used

75% said Excellent

25% said Very Good or Good

100% of respondents said they were 'Very Likely' or 'Likely' to recommend this course to others

A selection of open comments from attendees on what they enjoyed, learnt and will take away with them:

To understand that all my values are important but at different situations the most important ones come up

Values - when they are live and working

My values are the same as what other people see of me

Sharing with others and working collaboratively

Discussing the tricky issues

It helped me understand my own values and highlighted key beliefs

Judith did a very good job at getting us all to know our own values

Seeing the overlap with company values

How to put my values into practice

The scenarios (activities) were very helpful. It gave the course practicality

To make sure that values are discussed through meetings

Always remember your own core values but also remember that other people have other values

Identifying development of values and practical application

Aligning my values with the work place's values