JETS Vacuum Systems Training in Ireland

Andrew was delighted to visit the beautiful city of Belfast recently to assist Paul and the team at Balloo Hire Centres with their JETS vacuum sanitary equipment. Whilst on his travels, Andrew took the picture below of the stunning Queen's University of Belfast!

Don't forget we hold training days at our premises at Downton. The day includes both practical and theoretical learning that can be tailored to your specific JETS equipment. If you are interested, then please email us with the details at admin@ottervacuum.co.uk

Otter Vacuum are now accredited to provide a CPD course by The Chartered Institution of Building Services Engineers (CIBSE) entitled "Vacuum Sanitation in Buildings".

The Health Estates Journal

Following a highly successful installation of the Jets Vacuum Drainage System at the Royal Cornwall Hospital, Truro, (which led to Otter Vacuum becoming a finalist in the Lord Carter Award for Innovation 2018!) and the provision of over 600 toilets, urinals and grey water interfaces for the UK's largest vacuum installation to date at Bloomberg's new European HQ in London, Andrew and Nicky met with Jonathan Baillie, Editor of the Health Estates Journal, who has now published a highly interesting article in the August edition of the magazine!
