The Lord Carter Award for Innovation 2018

Following the successful installation of a vacuum sanitation system at Truro's Royal Cornwall Hospital, Otter Vacuum were extremely proud to be among the finalists for the Lord Carter Award for Innovation 2018.

Andrew Hay commented that, "at a time when the NHS is under great pressure, I am delighted that the benefits of the JETS sanitary installation have been recognised in this way."

The award was announced at the Hospital Innovations event at University College London, on Wednesday 6 June and was partnered by The Institute of Healthcare Engineering and Estate Management (IHEEM), the UK's largest specialist Institute for the Healthcare Estates Sector.

The Lord Carter Award for Innovation is presented to the NHS Trust or organisation that demonstrates one or more of the following:

- Use of innovation and/or innovative practices in delivering substantial savings, efficiencies and carbon reductions to the Trust.
- Delivery of operational efficiencies and savings through the introduction of new engineering innovative technologies.
- Evidence of transformation of staff practices through the introduction of new technology or innovative working practices.

JETS Large Pump Training Session

Congratulations to Frode Bakke who celebrates his 10th anniversary working for JETS and also to Magnus Loen on his recent promotion to JETS Service Supervisor. They visited Otter Vacuum on Wednesday 13 June to carry out an operation and troubleshooting training session on the JETS 95 Vacuumator (above). The session was attended by staff from both D&P Luxury Toilets and Zoo Events Group.

Don't forget we hold training days at our premises at Downton, Wiltshire. The day includes both practical and theoretical learning that can be tailored to your specific JETS equipment. If you are interested in joining us for a day of training, either send us an email or give us a call with your availability and the names of those that would like to attend, and we will organise the rest!
