

Spectrum Offshore Ltd has two operational companies comprising Spectrum Geosurvey Ltd that provides geophysical survey solutions and Spectrum Vessel Services Ltd, a multidisciplinary vessel operator that sources, manages and operates coastal work boats.

Our clients are international companies in the renewable energy sector and other offshore construction projects.

Our aim is to conduct our business in ways which prevent injury and ill health

Therefore, we will always strive to:

- comply fully with applicable legal requirements and other health and safety obligations which apply to our business activities, products and services;
- consider occupational health and safety when planning each project and when planning our other operational activities;
- conduct all operations in a safe way that does not endanger employees, contractors, clients and others
- ensure that our employees and others who work for us understand the health and safety implications of their work and are sufficiently aware and able to work safely
- identify other stakeholders who are relevant to our business, understand their needs, views and opinions on health and safety matters and, as far as practicable, satisfy their relevant requirements;

We implement and maintain a Business Management System which provides us with a robust framework for meeting the aim and objectives expressed in this policy. It also enables us, by means of 3rd party certification, to demonstrate that we satisfy OHSAS 18001 and other relevant management system standards, as required by many of our clients.

We will regularly review our capabilities and respond to the changing needs of the offshore industries and will take timely action to satisfy new and changing health and safety requirements. We will consider health and safety as we continually improve our resources, our services and the processes by which those services are delivered. Ultimately, this means continually improving our Business Management System and enhancing our health and safety performance and, where we have influence, enhancing the health and safety performance of others.
