

Privacy Policy

The Data Protection Officer of Atmis Enterprises Limited (hereafter known as The Company), is responsible for ensuring that any personal data held by Choice E-cigs is protected properly and used appropriately.

Only email addresses of customers who have expressly agreed to be contacted by The Company are held. Those customers will only be contacted to inform them of Choice E-cigs special offers or sales, vaping related information that may be of use to them, or to inform them of the arrival of a product or service that they have requested. No data is or will be shared with any third parties. Contact details will be held by the Company until the customer decides to withdraw his or her permission for the Company to do so.

For all customers who enjoy our loyalty card scheme, points are accrued in line with purchases; our electronic system records any purchase on which points are claimed.

Following any notification that a customer wishes withdraw consent to hold their data, their details will be deleted from the Customer Database, and they will not be contacted again. Any such notification should be sent to info@choiceecigs.co.uk

Should a customer wish to complain about any aspect of the Company data holding processes or contact procedures, they should also raise that complaint via email to info@choiceecigs.co.uk.
