Software Testing, Manual Testing, QA, Warwickshire,
Competitive Salary + Benefits

Want to be part of something amazing and work with some of the world's most iconic financial services brands?

How about helping to make a positive impact on people's lives? Well, this Tester job opening could allow you to do just that!

About the company and why you should work here:

This company makes a real difference to people's lives and financial well-being by offering a multitude of financial products and services that help people with life's big decisions, whether it's getting a mortgage, trading stocks and shares, or planning for retirement.

So, you can go home with a sense of satisfaction knowing you are helping people across various areas of their lives.

In addition, you can personally benefit from a good remuneration package, generous holiday allowance, performance related bonuses, vibrant open workspaces, casual dress codes, places to relax (cafes, beanbags & sofas, pool tables etc.), and regular charity and sports events. Not bad, eh?

What will your job role as a Tester involve?

Through Quality Assurance, you will be able to provide direction to all stages of software development.

From software design, implementation, testing documentation, and providing deployment and operational support, you will be well placed to engage with stakeholders to demonstrate and discuss test progress.

There will be times when other team members might turn to you for support on quality, productivity, or anything related to testing.

As our chosen Tester for the job, you will have:

A good level of Testing experience, and possess the ability to design test strategies, plan resource, and lead projects.

You'll be able to flourish in a software development and delivery environment and possess a knowledge strong knowledge of manual testing.

In an ideal world, you will already have experience within Financial Services, although this is not essential.
