

The Elephant Toothpaste

Dylan and Frankie were my assistants in this demonstration of how catalysts speed up the rate of chemical reactions. It's popularly known as the Elephant toothpaste reaction. Our students like this experiment very much especially when they can actually take part in the preparations.

