

The Three Kings of Racing

Arkle, Desert Orchid and Red Rum are three iconic horses of British racing that each captured the hearts of the nation.

Desert Orchid was an equine superstar and caught the public's imagination like no other racehorse. The flamboyant, enthusiastic, occasionally erratic galloping grey with the hooves of Pegasus and the heart of a lion was an outstanding horse with an outstanding character that achieved iconic status within National Hunt racing