

The Three Kings of Racing

Arkle, Desert Orchid and Red Rum are three iconic horses of British racing that each captured the hearts of the nation.

In the history of horseracing, few horses have captured the affection of the British public like Red Rum. The spirited horse rose from an early life of anonymity and is a remarkable story of courage and triumph to become the only three time Grand National winner. Red Rum is the greatest National hero of them all.