

Accessibility statement

We want as many people as possible to be able to use our website. For example, that means you should be able to:

- zoom in up to your browser maximum without the text spilling off the screen
- navigate most of the website using just a keyboard
- navigate most of the website using speech recognition software
- listen to most of the website using a screen reader (including the most recent versions of JAWS, NVDA and VoiceOver)

Depending on your default browser and extensions you may also be able to change colours, contrast levels and fonts

We've also made the writing as simple as possible to understand.

AbilityNet has advice on making your device easier to use if you have a disability.

If you can't access parts of this website

If you need information on this website in a different format, like an accessible PDF, large print or audio recording, email us iowfamilycentres@barnardos.org.uk

Reporting accessibility problems

We're always looking to improve the accessibility of this website. If you find any problems that aren't listed on this page or if you think we're not meeting accessibility requirements, email us iowfamilycentres@barnardos.org.uk

The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) is responsible for enforcing the Public Sector Bodies (Websites and Mobile Applications) (No. 2) Accessibility Regulations 2018 (the 'accessibility regulations'). If you're not happy with how we respond to your complaint, contact the Equality Advisory and Support Service \(EASS\).

Technical information about this website's accessibility

We have adhered to the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines version 2.1 standard.

How we tested this website

Our developer team last tested this website in July 2021. We tested our main platform at <https://www.isleofwightfamilycentres.org.uk/> with the axe accessibility testing tool and VoiceOver/Safari on MacOS.

What we're doing to improve accessibility

We work continuously to fix accessibility issues, and regularly audit and test the website for accessibility problems.
